During the months of October, November, and January, UC Riverside's Department of Gender and Sexuality Studies (GSST) will be celebrating—and reading—the timely publication of three new books by GSST faculty. We invite you to read along with the GSST department and to join us for an exciting dialogue held on Zoom during these months, where each author will converse with a leading scholar and audience members about their book. GSST is working with academic presses to offer significant discounts for these publications for the UCR community and interested readers. Please stay tuned for details on book purchases and event registration. We look forward to being in critical dialogue with all of you!
